SIXTY-NINTH YEAR No. 40

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1946

REV. FOSTER REVEALS BIT KYLE HISTORY

(A few reminiscences). The day Uncle Tom and family drove away from Cedarville for Illinois the Kyle connection gathered at Aunt Betty's (Turnbull) house, a big crowd. The new wagon he was having made was not ready until about three o'clock. It was soon loaded. He had a team of fine horses and a one-horse carriage with boards to make a bed for the three boys at night. With many handshakes and goodbyes and God bless and guide you, they were off. They were to catch up with several other wagons at the first camp. We who live today realize but little the hardships of such travel. The brothers and friends put something in Uncle Tom's pocket as he mounted the driver's seat. (I have tried hard to this of Aunt's name; but have failed. Her sweet face showed her lips slightly trembling. But she bore the trial with high Christian fortitude. Boys will be boys; and they went off as if on a picnic. The little daughter seemed to wonder what it was all about. They reached their new home near Urbana, all well. Uncle Tom was a surveyor, and was soon busy. Jimmy (his boyhood name) joined with an Agricultural College and was soon up to his neck in work. Then to regular college, then to Seminary, then to Mission in Salt Lake City (a short stay), then to Mission in Dakota, then suddenly called to the platform to make a pinch-hit speech. His eloquence caused the great gathering to "sit up!" One would nudge his neighbor saying, "he's wonderful! That sounds just like down East!"

Those sturdy farmers were nearly all from the East. They gathered in groups. He's our man for the Legislature! And he's going! And go he did; and from the Legislature he was sent to the Senate for two terms. The plain missionary was sky-rocketed, from a humble position, to make laws for the nation! Like David the shepherd, to Israel's throne!

Back only little more than a generation, not many now living ever saw Senator Kyle. He was very tall, inclined to be slender. Called out of the Senate chamber by a committee of which the undersigned chanced to be one, he was dressed, as were probably all Senators at that time, in a Prince Albert coat with appropriate fixtures. He made a fine appearance and would be noticed among Senators. The undersigned was just introducing to the Committee Cousin Senator Kyle.

When the body of General Grant was to be transferred from the little brick vault to the great tomb in the Park overlooking the Hudson, there was a parade and gathering of great men of the nation and from foreign countries. There was a parade of Infantry, batteries and cavalry, such as had never been seen before, and probably never will be again. The President and high state rulers were there. Generals in their most splendid uniforms; magnificently mounted, led their respective Commands. As the occasion was a semi-funeral, the writer cannot recall whether or not there was cheering, if it is proper to say so of a funeral.

"MAGNIFICANT" this was the time and place.

These things are mentioned to say that Senator Kyle was a member of the Committee to represent the Senate. Stopping at our house, the Official coach called for him. As the coach was for him alone, he insisted that I go along. I tried to say "No," but failed. Nor could I make myself look the least like a Senator. But there I was! What the Senator's duties were the writer cannot recall. He was too busy keeping back in the corner of the coach. Anyway the Senator saw me through, with several smiles.

Probably some have not seen the inside of Grant's Tomb. Entering by several steps a few feet beyond the door, there is a circle or square perhaps ten feet in diameter. About fifteen feet down are the Sarcophagi of General Grant and Mrs. Grant in their silent bivouac.

On the entrance floor are one or two little rooms. One with many battle-flags; some of them in shreds from enemy fire. As there are no windows or lights below, the view of the beautifully polished Italian red-marble sarcophagi is sombre.

On the Committee occasion above referred to, Senator Kyle would have me go to lunch with him in the Senate Restaurant. Say folks, I did not know how to act. Cousin Jimmie gave the "Order" and everything was up to the high top of the Government. Seconds had not even a "look in". Not many can hit the top by having a Senator Cousin.

Conservationists Meet In Columbus

This week, Supervisors of Greene County Soil Conservation District are attending a four day, Sept. 3 to 6 school at Columbus, O.

This school, for Soil Conservation Supervisors from the entire state, will consist of tours, demonstrations, and discussions of soil conservation practices adapted to farm conservation plans as approved by District Supervisors over the state.

Tuesday, the group toured Union, Clark and Champaign counties, observing farm woodlands, terrace systems, contour cultivation, and farm drainage ditches.

Thursday, the group will go to Coshocton, to see experiments conducted by the Hydrological Research Station, and to Zanesville, to the Soil Conservation Experiment Station and Nursery.

Other sessions will be devoted to discussions on soil and water conserving practices, conducted by personnel of the State and Regional Soil Conservation Service offices. Friday, the meetings will be concluded by a banquet for the District Supervisors at the Southern Hotel, Columbus.

This is the 1st of a series of statewide schools being held for District Supervisors, these schools being conducted by the Mississippi Valley Commercial club, consisting of a group of business concerns, interested in promoting Soil Conservation education throughout the region.

Supervisors from Greene County attending the school are, Raymond Jewery, Cedarville Twp., Ben Beard, Jefferson Twp., J. B. Lane, Xenia Twp., Archie Peterson, Miami Twp., and A. J. Beam, Spring Valley Twp.

Dean License Up For Hearing

Reports from Columbus state the Ohio Liquor Commission has set Sept. 8th for hearing for reinstatement of the license formerly held by George Dean, who is now serving in the pen for the shooting of two persons in his tavern March 1st last.

Certainly there is little ground the Commission can find for renewal of the Dean license. He is in prison for killing two persons, one an innocent woman. Gov. Lausche can do no more for Greene county than having his liquor commission cancel the Dean permit for good as part penalty for his rash act. Renewal means the license can be sold to any other person as any commodity.

LOCAL MINISTERS DINED TO MEET EVANGELIST RICE

The local ministers were invited to a dinner meeting of all the ministers from this entire area Thursday evening, in the Young Woman's League to meet Evangelist John R. Rice of Wheaton, Ill., who is to conduct a Union Revival Campaign in the Dayton Memorial Hall, Sept. 8 to Oct. 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bratton and son of Cincinnati were here Monday for Labor Day activities.

ALONG FARM FRONT E. A. Drake, Co. Agricultural Agent

Greene county 4-H Club members carried off two championship ribbons at the Ohio State Junior Fair with their livestock entries. Eddie Pickering of Jamestown showed the Champion Lamb and also won first and second honor with his Southdown Ewe Lambs, and first and second in the Southdown Ewe show.

Robert Fudge also of Jamestown exhibited the Champion Ayrshire of the show, and aged cow. Robert also placed second with his Ayrshire yearling heifer and third in the Ayrshire heifer calf show. Robert also had four entries in the open class, his aged cow placing third, Senior Yearling fifth; Junior Yearling-sixth and heifer calf seventh.

In the swine show Roger Conkling of Xenia won first and second honors with his Duroc Gilts.

GRASSHOPPER INVADE GARDENS

Swarms of grasshoppers are devouring vegetation in many parts of the county, and causing serious damage to gardens. While they are difficult to control, poisoned bran mash is the best known material to reduce their numbers.

For a small quantity of the mash, mix one level teaspoon of Paris Green or White Arsenic to one quart of bran. To one pint of water add two tablespoons of syrup. Pour the sweetened liquid over the poisoned bran and mix thoroughly. Scatter the mixture thinly where the insects are feeding in the evening or early morning.

Repeat if necessary, paying particular attention to the areas beyond the borders of the garden and across which the hoppers migrate to reach the vegetables or flowers.

USE FLUES FOR CORN CRIB VENTILATION

The August 1 crop report indicates that the national corn crop will be a record high and that Ohio will have the second highest average yield ever recorded. Greene county has prospects for a banner crop; however the cool weather is delaying ripening, and only a late frost will permit many fields to mature properly.

Many farmers are looking forward to the possibility of having to crib corn with a high moisture content and are now installing ventilating flues in their cribs. The flues are of simple construction and provide air channels across the crib about every three feet. A mimeographed bulletin describing and illustrating the use of flues in cribs may be secured at the county agents office.

CORN GROWING THREE BUSH- ELS PER ACRE DAILY

The growth of corn was carefully studied this summer at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. The very conspicuous increase in height is only one part of the growth of corn because it is increasing in dry weight or solid matter at the same time.

The height growth stops suddenly about tasseling and silking time. The growth in dry matter continues till later in the summer when it slows down and finally stops altogether due to unfavorable weather.

A corn field will produce about 200 pounds of dry matter per acre each good growing day. This growth in dry matter may go on for a month or more after height growth stops if temperature and soil moisture are very favorable. The 200 pounds of dry matter per acre is equal to about three bushels of grain, so that each favorable growing day after silking is very important in determining the final yield of the crop.

TREAT SEED WHEAT TO CONTROL SMUT

The only wheat disease which has caused much concern this year is the stinking smut. Losses in some cases have been as high as 30 percent. This means more than actual reduction in yield because grain dealers do not take wheat if it contains much smut.

Stinking smut could be completely prevented in next year's crop if all the wheat sown this fall were treated. Treatment with New Improved Ceresan is effective, can be quickly and easily made, and does not cost much. An increase in yield of one bushel per acre will more than pay for the cost of treatment including the labor required.

Ceresan is a very fine dust. It adheres to the grain, yet does not interfere in any way with drilling. In fact treated wheat flows more smoothly and evenly than untreated grain. Treatment may be made in various ways including a barrel or other closed container or by spreading the chemical over the grain and shoveling it over several times.

O. S. U. PROF BACKS FARM ON PRICES

Columbus—Prof. J. I. Falconer, O. S. U. rural economist, came to the defense of the farmer today and suggested that city consumers hold their fire before blaming the food grower for the high cost of living.

Pointing out that only about 18 percent of the U.S. population now lives on farms, Falconer said a considerable part of the present city population lacked knowledge of farm problems and failed to realize that farming has big investments in land and machinery.

"People who demand that farmers produce sufficient food and fiber crops to supply all demands should recognize such a system of farming is possible only when farmers have some sort of business security," he said.

The economist said that with land values running up to $200 an acre and with from $5,000 to $10,000 invested in machinery and equipment, a farmer works under constant threat of too little farm income to meet the overhead costs and operating expenses.

"Most Ohio farm products are of such perishable nature they must be sold at a certain time whether the market is favorable or not," he said.

Jesse Bobbitt Died Last Friday

Jesse Bobbitt, 69, retired farmer, formerly of this place, died at his home in Xenia Friday at 3:20 p.m. In failing health the last year, his condition became serious six days ago.

Born near New Vienna October 11, 1876, Mr. Bobbitt moved to Greene County as a young man and for many years engaged in farming east of Xenia. His marriage to Miss Lillian Donaldson of Cedarville took place December 30, 1908. He was a member of the Cedarville Methodist Church.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Howard E. and J. Wendell, both of Xenia; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Kelble and Mrs. Robert Scriver, both of Xenia; four brothers, William of New Vienna, Judson of Leeburg, Cleveland of Troy and Louis of Xenia; three sisters, Mrs. Grover Dennis and Mrs. Fred Rulon of New Vienna and Mrs. Ola Breakall of Xenia; seven grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at the local Methodist Church Sunday at 2 p. m. in charge of Rev. S. Andrew Hutchison, pastor of the Lake st. Baptist Church in Xenia. Burial was in North Cemetery.

Four Greene Boys In Draft Call

The Truman administration wants four boys from the rural sections in the U. S. Army for the oncoming war with Germany. Ohio must send 1117 boys between 19 and 30 years of age. Meantime several thousand young men under 30 years of age on government pay roll in Washington, slackers of World War II, have not been called. This should be interesting to Democratic families that have to send their sons to the army for Truman's Third World War.

Labor Day Well Celebrated

The Cedarville Progressive Club with Cedarville College and the cooperation of local people carved another niche in the record of achievement to honor Labor Day and its author, the late Senator James H. Kyle, South Dakota, for his efforts while in the national legislative body.

Last year the local group had as guest speaker, Governor Lausche of Columbus and this year the community honored Gov. M. Q. Sharpe of South Dakota, who gave the address honoring Senator Kyle.

Gov. Sharpe stated in his address: "Labor is entitled to have laws passed for its benefit the same as any other group." "Labor is entitled to just treatment by government at all times."

But as for favor or preferential treatment, then it is entitled to nothing more than any other group. He places labor in the same group as industry, Capital, agriculture, education and the professions.

"For labor to maintain its present dominant position and to follow the course indicated by the 'thoughts and actions of its champions,' certain definite paths must be taken. His five points were:

"Put the general public welfare first at all times, even ahead of its own welfare. Stop centering its effort on higher wages and shorter hours."

"Devote more effort to the great national opportunities of developing our immense wealth of natural resources. Devote its efforts toward practical education. Be generous, liberal, considerate, unselfish and broad minded in arbitrating on a national scale the division of commodities and services."

At the conclusion of the address, President Ira D. Vayhinger of Cedarville College, conferred an honorary doctor of humanities degree on the guest speaker for the day.

The Labor Day program was sponsored by the Progressive Club, under the direction of Harry Hamman, president and Cedarville College.

The business men of Cedarville were most liberal in their contributions to the fund necessary to carry out the plan and have funds to pay all prizes in cash.

The list is as follows: Cedarville Lumber Co., Carlisle Market, Duvall Hardware, Frank Creswell, Harry Hamman, Cedarville Herald, Kenneth Little, Rankin McMillan, Ward Creswell, H. H. Brown, Oscar Bailey.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

This announcement will no doubt come to the general public as a surprise. So far as we know the issue of Sept. 13th will appear as usual but the issues for the next two weeks will likely be suspended while the publisher is away under treatment for an eye condition that must be given attention at once, according to the advice of a Cincinnati specialist. The condition was brought to our attention more than two years ago by the late Dr. P. R. Madden but we were advised that nothing could be done then and we must await developments.

We have exhausted every means possible to secure the service of a combination man with weekly paper experience to take charge of the office in our absence but with no success thus far. The situation in the printing industry as to available labor is no different than in other lines.

We regret to have to make this announcement for it is breaking a record of forty-seven years that we have always hoped could be continued for the half century mark.

New Aluminum Industry Assured For Paper Mill Site

H. A. Tyson Leases Hagar Straw Board Mill to Morris Beam & Company, Yellow Springs, for Branch Factory to Manufacture Aluminum Castings. 30 Employees Needed to Open Factory.

H. A. Tyson, London, O., owner of the former plant of the Hagar Strawboard & Paper Co. announced Thursday he had leased the former straw board plant to Morris Beam & Co. of Yellow Springs who take over the plant at once. The new owners plan to remodel the plant to suit their need for an aluminum foundry and installing extensive machinery and equipment.

Operations are scheduled to begin within 30 to 60 days and it is expected that approximately 30 employees will be on the payroll of the new industry.

Mr. Tyson had originally planned to move either all or part of his manufacturing business in London to Cedarville in the near future but present conditions have prevented this. For some time he has been considering offers of various manufacturers to locate at the paper mill site and of these various prospects, Morris Beam & Co.'s Aluminum Foundry promises to be in the best interests of all the parties concerned and particularly for the future of Cedarville.

A statement from Mr. Beam will be forthcoming at a future date as to the opening and operation of the new enterprise.

Some weeks ago Cincinnati interests were seeking information as to a possible location here. Representatives were in town this week again. It is to be hoped something can be worked out to use the site of the old lime kilns which has rail facilities and a large body of pure water that could be used for cooling purposes.

The Yellow Springs firm has a wide reputation in the industrial world and makes a product that is a leader for such firms as General Motors, Goodyear Tire Co., and other large users of aluminum. The company owns the patented process. The decision to locate here will be received with glee by our citizens and the village will also be as grateful to Mr. Tyson, who himself has been quite successful in the designing and manufacturing of useful articles. He turned out much useful material during the war for the government. He with associates have designed and have a number of pieces of a special farm machinery that is new and is now being tested on a number of farms. Governmental red tape is holding up new inventions in every line of endeavor. When the public discovers it has been the loser by following the quacks in Washington, probably individual initiative will have opportunity of having its proper place in the nation's economic structure.

GREEN LIGHTS

By MARY FAY BRYSON

It isn't always a big farm that attracts attention. Sometimes it is a small place that shows it is packed with the things that make for better than usual results.

On the road between Jasper and New Jasper is a 16 acre place owned, utilized and enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wooley and their children, a daughter and a son.

Mr. Wooley is a painter which means he follows his brush to refresh the surfaces of houses and barns, wherever duty calls.

Mrs. Wooley's avocation is her home and family. This is augmented by the care of a cow, some sheep, chickens, ducks, a garden and last spring, the nurturing of five lambs.

The Wooley sheep were molested by marauding dogs one early spring night with the result that five ewes were destroyed. That meant real loss. But sometimes when disaster strikes it makes ones friends more precious than ever.

In this case, Harold Moseman and Denver Wolf felt sorry enough to do something about it. They selected five, very young lambs from their own flocks and gave them to the Wooleys, that they might again start a flock of their own. You can imagine how this family of four received such a considerable gift.

The five, 2 months-old babies of course had to be fed every 3 hours for awhile. This meant to prepare five nursing bottles and to feed simultaneously, five little, eager "black faces," with eyes and noses, pleading to "please hurry with my bottle!" Only those who raise sheep understand fully the depths of the meaning of shepherd.

Mrs. Wooley and the children packed a lot of fun into the nursing time, even when the periods of feeding diminished to three times daily.

Part of the Wooley land not reared for pasture is farmed on the shares. There is also a large well planned and well kept garden which supplies vegetables for their summer use and to store away in the freezer for their winter needs.

As we entered the neat, interesting cottage, there was a faint, sweet odor of freshly baked bread, out of the pleasantest of all good odors that originate in farm kitchens.

For a little time we talked about the old log house about which the Wooley house is constructed. The interesting, alert children played their newest dust, and very well, too. Then Mrs. Wooley wondered if I'd have time or would care to taste her bread. That sounded as good as the magic word nylon. Soon she brought a slice of excellent bread and a generous pat of home made butter and... why say more? The rest of that happening was a delight to the last crumb.

You may recall that during the war, Mrs. Wooley made more than 200 scrap books for the Veterans Hospitals, plus other unnumbered duties at the AWVS center.

Ten years of work and 16 acres of ground are indeed the nucleus of this busy, happy, worthwhile home.

SPRINGFIELDER GIVES OLD TOWN A WARNING

A former Cedarvillian in town Labor Day, wants his friends to know that Springfield's experience with a municipal hospital has been very unsatisfactory and extremely costly to home owners. Although a Protestant he says he contributed liberally for the new Catholic Mercy Hospital.

County To Get Housing Funds

Greene County Commissioners have received $31,150.85 cents from the state under a recent law to erect or aid in erecting homes for veterans.

The law empowers the commissioners to spend any or all of the money to provide temporary emergency facilities by acquiring by purchase, land, structures, materials and equipment to erect homes. They must also provide for the maintenance and management of the property and to fix and collect rents. At prevailing rate the commissioners probably could erect five or six houses of this cheap-set material.

VETS HAVE A RIGHT TO COMPLAIN—WHY?

Daily we read of the plight of the veteran, War I or II. He took what the New Deal forced on him whether he liked it or not. He was promised this and that by the Roosevelt administration, most of which he now finds he cannot get. He was told he could start farming, or enter business on his own account. Now he finds he is a citizen just the same as anyone else. He is asked to give as much credit for a government loan as was required of all before the war.

He is told he can enter college or a university and Uncle Sam will pay the bill. Now we hear of colleges that have not even been paid for the veteran's tuition for last year. That charge is piling up everywhere.

He is told he can get a job one hundred or two hundred miles away and pay his board and maintain a home for his family at the same time elsewhere. He probably left a good job to enter the service of his country because he had too or go to jail. When he asks for the job the CIO tells him he must join the union and start at the foot of the list. We recall the vet that was a foreman when he answered the nation's call for service. He was gone three years and on return another had his job and the CIO having taken over the "hiring and firing" said he had lost his seniority rights—because he served his country.

The vet has one thing to learn. He might just as well make up his mind that any New Deal promise is a falsehood, made only for political purposes. The administration lied to him before he was drafted. They lied to his family while he was gone. He returns home to find they grafter war contracts out of income taxes they collected from relatives, his wife, or the income tax they collected from his father, brother or even himself. The vet of the last war is being treated even more shamefully than his comrade of the first war. To continue to follow the New Deal flag will get the vet nothing more than promises.

A SHOW THAT IS BURLESQUE FOR SURE

If the American people have not been fed up on what is going on in Europe, as well as in the states, as reported by radio and the press, we miss our guess. Now that OPA has been "decontrolled" and each day hands out a list of goods for higher prices to help hold back inflation and keep down the high cost of living, the Truman administration has not much to report on daily other than what is taking place among the foreigners over there or down in Washington.

Secretary Jimmy Byrnes who seems to play the role of interlocutor in the burlesque must have his hands full for he wires home for more talent and President Harry sends him Senator Connolly and Senator Vandenberg, the former a Texas Democrat and the latter, a Michigan Republican. One day Our Jimmy and Uncle Joe spar and grab holds in show fashion and the next day Bankrupt Harry sends Uncle Joe more lend-lease to keep him sweet. Uncle Joe knows his psychology, mob or otherwise, so at the right time he slaps Uncle Jimmy a few times for public consumption, knowing full well back home the White House will write another order for more American tractors, sugar or "red liquor" for the Russians, all at your expense.

Another version of the same show is soon to open somewhere around New York if proper housing can be secured. To keep the show running in oil the first thing in the way of conveniences installed is a well stocked bar. Meantime our delegates talk peace one day and war with Russia the next. Not so long ago England sold the four destroyers we gave the British to Russia for a cool four million each. Uncle Joe has a well stocked warehouse of war material of all kinds that was shipped during and after the war. There are thousands of airplanes, trucks and tanks, all of American make, all set ready for World War III. It must be on the way for Walter Winchell still says he was right in his prediction made public months ago. Then Uncle Harry is calling for our boys for army duty if they are in the 19 to 30 range. That looks like War III. They tell us war "is Hell!" What is the New Deal?

Sold by Leading Dealers in Your Community

Up at the State Fair Friday a few publishers were gathered following the annual luncheon to newspaper representatives by the Board of Agriculture. The trend of conservation was to the fresh announcement of $7 a ton increase on the price of newspaper. That is news even to a Democratic publisher, even if he is only a publisher of a weekly paper. A Democratic daily publisher pits his upper lip, crosses his legs and says "Well, I'll be damned!" The weekly paper says it is marvelous how the "decontrol" has lowered the price of news print since a paper manufacturer, branded a Republican by Bankrupt Harry, holds down the high cost of living.

Then Saturday morning we pick up our Ohio State Journal and from the first page we read "Newspaper Costs Send Subscription Rates Up." It was a double deck two column head and the headlines says, "papers pay 118 percent over 1934 level and more than 40 papers increase prices." Good news to Democratic readers. Shouting for Bankrupt Harry and the CIO and paying increased subscription rates to the favorite party Journal newspaper that has also raised the advertising rate to advertisers, who in turn raise the price of much needed merchandise, surely gives the old fashioned Democrat a bit of headache. Republican newspapers can make increases in subscription rates and advertising rates and "point with pride" to the New Dealers as to how that bunch of Communists represent the down-trodden populace, that has no representation in government only under Bankrupt Harry and his Missouri (pen) gang.

Increasing the price of the paper to five cents daily is a small matter with a Democratic publisher who has preached the Democratic doctrine of New Deal Communism, higher union wages and smaller profits to manufacturers and farmers. The management of a Democratic paper that had the editorial page urge higher support the Wallace theory that all wages can be increased without higher selling costs now is faced with the typographical union demand of that the next wage contract shall be $2.50 an hour instead of $1.65 as at present. With an editorial policy of no increase in the cost of goods and an increase in type wages and $7 a ton on newspaper certainly puts a Democratic publisher between his conscience and his God on one side and his pocket book on the other. We refer all such to the Republican prayer-book of "open admission and less deception" or pay the price for your folly.

The Batavia (N. Y.) Times Democrat no sooner read the press story of $7.00 a ton price on newspaper at the hands of a decontrol board of a political party it has supported for 129 years in and out, suffered faint and immediately put into print the following: "Because of the high cost of paper, labor and replacement of machinery" this paper is discontinuing." We check our directory and find Batavia is in Genesee county, a Democratic county, the city has about 15,000 people. The field is left to the Republican Times, a daily also. When we think of how the paper industry begged the OPA and New Deal for relief the past ten years; it is certainly "kingdom come" for the paper manufacturers now that Bankrupt Harry's decontrol board is running in high gear.

The average reader has little opportunity of knowing much as to the cost today of newspaper makeup. It is no fault of the reader for he has no reason to be in touch with the complicated price structure even under government control. If the reader knew it all he probably would want to know just why a man was a newspaper publisher under such conditions. The same might be asked of other lines of production, particularly the retail business. As to the price of newspaper it is based on zones. No. 1 is New York and San Francisco is No. 10. For instance in New York City the price now is $74 a ton. Any newspaper with an annual consumption of 50,000 tons will spend $3,700,000 for raw paper alone. That of course is only penny postage under any Rooseveltian rule of economics. A newspaper in zone 9, Denver, pays $5 a ton more. This New Deal managed economy, planned by misfits, bankrupts, and Communists is an interesting game. Our wonder is just how long one who calls himself a Democrat will stand for it? And that includes the Democrat that has to hold himself in the struggle between his conscience and his pocket-book as to whether to accept $21 for his hogs or the New Deal ceiling of $16.25. What a mental strain that must be.

TENDERFOOT WANTED TO SEE THE PORK!—A tenderfoot from the east was inspecting some Texas lowland property with a view of becoming a western landowner. He wanted to know if the land was subject to overflow in the rainy season and when the agent replied in the negative he pointed to some mud high on the trees and inquired if it did not indicate a high water mark. "No sir," replied the agent. "We've got some mighty big hogs hereabout and that's where they rubbed the mud off their sides."

The easterner kept staring at the trees until finally the agent inquired, "Well, friend, do you want to buy this farm?"

"No," replied the tenderfoot, "but I'd like to buy about 500 of those hogs." —Wall Street Journal.

Senator Kyle

Senator Kyle's grandfather came from Kentucky to get away from slavery. He bought one thousand acres from the government; probably two acres under heavy timber. The old homestead still stands — now known as the Murdock farm. One of the two large barns has disappeared, maybe both; for a new one. The old ones were about fifteen feet apart, banked for second floor behind. The house has been remodeled. But there it sits as when staked out in the first years of the Nineteenth Century. Grandfather was a member of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church. The house of worship, first built of logs, with its high pulpit, was over towards Clark's Run. The first Kyle picnic was held in an adjoining grove. It was announced that there were 185 (?) in the connection at that time — 1883 (?). Grandfather was Associate Judge and Surveyor.

One son, Joshua, was a minister. Of the many grandchildren, one was missionary in Brazil; another, in Egypt; another great-grandchild in India; many were teachers; one was judge; seven or more were ministers; and one whose memory we all do light to honor—Our distinguished Cousin—SENATOR JAMES KYLE. One is justified in thinking of Associate Judge Kyle as the Head and Father of an unusual family. They went to church; they kept the Sabbath; they learned the Catechism; they had family worship morning and evening. Some farmers are noted for their breed of hogs; some for their cattle. Here is what might be called a family bred to high devotion to God, to His church and to His work. So far as known and known to very recent years, not one was ever in a fellow's cell. Stalwart in height from five feet eleven to six feet six (girls included) they were stalwart Christians—nearly all, with the Jacksons and Barbers, were United Presbyterians (union in 1856).

The McMillans, Murdocks and their large families were the NEW School Covenanters. All were Psalm singing and without instrumental music. My folks were of the OLD School Covenanters with the church down on Xenia Avenue. The influence of these families cannot be measured. They set the high standard, if those days in Cedarville Township. The writer is probably the only person living who saw Grandfather Kyle; and that memory includes just one thing—His bed was in the Living Room, probably twenty-five feet by sixteen. Grandpa went to bed early. That is all I can recall unless it be the great blazing fire in the wide fireplace and crane, and possibly roast apples sputtering on the hearth.

Someone has said—The path of glory leads but to the grave. How true! "The fathers; Where are they?" Let us believe they are in that vast multitude that rises tier above tier above tier in the resplendent glory around the throne—all praising the Great God of Salvation, the Father, Son and Holy Ghost—Redeemed Through the Blood of the Saviour Divine! "And he is the propitiation for our sins." (I John 2:2).

Robert J. Burdett, converted, wrote the following lines—touchingly beautiful:

"How do I know He is Jesus the Lord?
I was leprous, foul and mean;
I fell at His feet, and He lifted me up.
Saying, 'I will be clean!'"

"How do I know He is the Christ of God?
I was blind, and men trampled on me,
'Have pity!' I cried; and He touched my eyes—
'Be opened,' He said; and I see!"

"How do I know He is the Son of God?
I stood by the cross, afraid;
For I'd driven the nails; but He looked upon me—
And 'Father Forgive!' He prayed.

"How do I know He's the Living God?
In corruption of sin I lay dead;
But life everlasting thrilled into me, when—
'Thy sins be forgiven!' He said."

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE VILLAGE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF CEDARVILLE, STATE OF OHIO, (3-4ths of all its members thereto concurring):

SECTION 1: That for the purpose of extending the sewer system and providing a site and constructing an outfall sewer and sewerage disposal plant for the Village of Cedarville, Ohio, it is necessary to issue the bonds of said Village in an amount which this Council estimates as Thirty-five Thousand ($35,000.00) Dollars general obligation bonds of said Village; that it is necessary to levy a tax outside of the ten mill limit to pay the interest on and to retire said bonds; and that the question of the issuance of said bonds and the levy of such tax be submitted to the electors of said Village at the next November election; that this Council estimates that said bonds will be authorized by resolution passed prior to July 16, 1947, and that the approximate date of said bonds will be the last day of March, 1947; that this Council further estimates that these bonds will be paid in 40 semi-annual installments, maturing in substantially equal amounts during a period of 20 years after the authorization thereof; and that said bonds will bear interest at a rate now estimated at three 3 % per annum, payable semi-annually.

SECTION 3: That the County Auditor in his certification shall be and is hereby directed more than 60 days prior to such election to calculate and certify to the Village of Cedarville the average annual levy, expressed in dollars and cents, for each $100.00 of valuation, as well as in mills for each $1.00 of valuation throughout the life of the bonds which will be required to pay the interest on and retire such bonds as aforesaid.

See us for new B.F. Goodrich tires that OUTWEAR PREWAR TIRES

It was the same story everywhere the new B.F. Goodrich passenger tire was tested... on taxis, police cars, the B.F. Goodrich test fleet, and in the laboratory. Under all conditions, even at high speed, on test cars driven steadily at 60 miles per hour, hour after hour, averaging over a thousand miles a day, the new B.F. Goodrich Silvertown was a superior performer. It outlasted prewar tires... showed less tread wear... gave thousands of miles of extra service. Why? One reason is that the wider, flatter tread puts more rubber on the road to share the wear. But under that tread is another reason... a stronger tire body made with better cords and more of them. That's why this new tire stands up better... and outlasts prewar tires. So here's a tip. Come in today.

JESUS AND HONESTY OF SPEECH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:16; Proverbs 26:28; Matt. 5:37-38.
 MEMORY VERSE—Wherefore put not away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor.—Ephesians 4:25.

God is truth, and therefore any kind of lie is evidence of godlessness. Satan, the father of lies (John 8:44) and the father of all liars.

I. The Prohibition of Lying (Exod. 20:16).
 This "thou shalt not" of God has to do primarily with perjury; that is, the telling of an untruth in court. This is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the loss of liberty, his life or his property, or the destruction of his good reputation.

It is obvious, however, that the commandment covers all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters and others (see Lev. 19:16; II Cor. 12:20).

II. The Purpose of Lying (Prov. 26:28-29).
 Sometimes as one hears the continuous stream of lies which flow from the lips of some men, one is apt to feel that it is just a bad habit of careless talking which has become a part of the life.

There is, however, a real purpose behind the lies of men, and that is to deceive in order to get gain or advantage, or to cover up hatred.

How much of all this there is in the world today—yes, and in the church. Those who profess to be the followers of Christ use the devices of the devil in their relations with fellow members of the church. Christian workers who wish to appear greater than they are, or to look greater than others, use deceit and lying. With what results?

III. The Punishment of Lying (Prov. 26:28-29; Matt. 23:7-8).
 One who leads, in fact calls for, another, and soon the liar has dug a pit so big that he stumbles and falls into it. He is like one who starts a great stone rolling, and lo, it rolls back on him and crushes him. Now, in due time he is shown up before the entire congregation (v. 26).

Then, too, the lie does harm to others. No matter what its nature—a half truth, or a truth used to deceive, or a complete falsehood—it bears awful fruit in the life of the one toward whom it is directed, or whose name is involved (v. 28). Once started, it is often impossible to stop. One cannot ever catch up with a lie.

But there is also a horrible and bitter fruiting of lies in the life and the heart of the liar. Lies do "come home to roost," and they make the heart and life of anyone who has a vestige of decency and honor left, miserably unhappy. Consider Peter (Matt. 26:75).

It is of the utmost importance that we stress before children and young people the awful results of lying, as well as its sinfulness. Lying and deceit are so commonly accepted in our day that many regard it as all right if you don't get caught. But the fact is, you always do get caught by God—yes, and by your own lie.

IV. The Practice of Lying (Matt. 23:7-8).
 Sadly enough, the constant lying of the world seems to have infected the minds and hearts of Christians. Instead of being cleansed from this worldly defilement they carry its awful tendencies into the church.

The great lie within the church, and one of Satan's prize exhibits, is the falsehood of modern religious liberalism (so-called), which is essentially a denial of real New Testament Christianity. Jesus said (v. 42) that if God is our Father we will accept him as the Christ. The one who speaks sweet words about the example, the manhood, the leadership of the Master, and who denies him his place as God, is clearly in mind here as the follower of the father of lies.

Someone has suggested that the great spiritual problem of our day is not the conflict between the church and the world; nor is it to determine how the church can best serve in the world, but rather what to do about the world which has gotten into the church. How did worldliness get into the church? The members brought it there after they had gone out and warmed themselves at the world's fire, and fellowshiped with the world in ungodly living.

The denials made by Peter seem almost unbelievable in the life of one who had been in immediate fellowship with the Lord and who had seen his glory. We have here a revelation of the fact that "the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked; who can know it?" (Jer. 17:9).

Economical Milking Parlor for Farm

Saving in Capital And Labor Costs

Economy, both in initial cost and labor, is the chief attribute of the pen-type dairy barn with attached milking parlor used by many dairymen. It is particularly advantageous when adding to the size of the herd. The cows are allowed to run loose in the barn and are milked and fed in an adjoining lean-to milking parlor.

The total cost for materials of the lean-to shown in the sketch would be approximately $900, including a fire-resistant asphalt roll roofing and gypsum exterior walls. This will permit the farmer to qualify for producing Grade A milk.

The six-stall parlor is large enough for a 30-cow herd. It does increase the amount of bedding needed by nearly 50 per cent. This results in a corresponding increase in manure value.

One of the main advantages of this type construction is that the herd may be added to without expense of new stanchions.

Farm Safety Week to Stop Accident Gains

Making life on the farm safer for children and adults is the basic aim of Farm Safety Week. President Truman, in proclaiming the week, July 21 to 27, suggested "that the Proper confinement for the bull may save lives.

farm people of the country observe the week by resolving to eliminate at least one hazard a day until their farms are as safe as they can possibly make them."

Open wells, improperly fenced dangerous animals, ladders, dangerous parts of machinery unprotected, cluttered barnyards, all take toll of thousands of farm children and adults annually.

Grit and Shell Box

An easy to build grit and shell box for the laying house may be made of box lumber but should be strong enough so that it can be nailed to the side of the house, six inches above the litter.

Concrete Measuring

A box for measuring sand and gravel is shown in the illustration. For a 1:3:5 mixture the frame should measure inside 4 feet seven inches, 2 feet wide and 1 foot deep. On the inside and 33 inches from one end, a partition is placed.

Ants in Garden May Be Controlled by Pyrethrum

Ants in lawns, fields and gardens can be controlled with a concentrated pyrethrum product, according to W. A. Price, Kentucky experiment station. A preparation containing 2 per cent in a vegetable oil soap is recommended. The dosage should be applied at the rate of one tablespoonful to a gallon of water. A gallon is sufficient for a hill 12 inches in diameter and two inches high.

been harvested. Along with the ease of operating the spreader on sods, the application will produce greater increases in crop yields than spread on plowed ground. The one precaution on lime applied to sods is also to put a little lime on the surface soil if alfalfa or clover is to be seeded and no lime has been used previously in the field. The seeding legume plants will need time before their roots become long enough to reach lime which has been plowed under.

Money can be saved by testing the soil before liming so the application can be as large or as small as needed. Applying unnecessary lime wastes money, and underdressed applications do not put the soil in condition to grow legumes so both time and materials give little return in boosting crop yields.

TOMATO BLIGHT IS WIDESPREAD

Tomatoes should be protected from late blight by application of fixed copper applied either as a dust or as a spray. The dust can be made by mixing 14 pounds of 7 percent fixed copper dust with 86 pounds of filler. The spray is a combination of 4 lbs. of 50 percent metallic copper with 100 gallons of water. If tomato fruit show rotten spots caused by blight, an 8-8-100 Bordeaux mixture should be used. Applications must be frequent and thorough.

Lunch by Pitchin Church

It was good enough for Pop but--

The telephone construction truck in the framed picture looks like a museum piece, but it was the last word in equipment in 1921, the year our present company was founded.

In sharp contrast is the streamlined, four-cab truck of today.

This contrast is a measure of telephone progress in the past quarter of a century. Our fleet not only has increased tremendously in efficiency and appearance, but has grown 10 times in size until today we operate more than 1,800 motor vehicles throughout the state.

Improvements in other types of telephone apparatus and the efficiency of the men and women who use it have been equally impressive. For example, in the early 1920's, your telephone was out of order on an average of once in every 15 months and it took about five hours to clear the trouble when it was reported. Now your telephone averages 30 months without being out of order and when trouble does occur, it is cleared in less than two hours. Now 94% of all cases of trouble are repaired the same day they are reported, no matter what time of the day we receive your call.

These strides in telephone performance have been made possible by constant research in developing better equipment and new and more efficient methods of doing our job.

In the future this same alertness to change and diligence on the job will mean more and better telephone service for you and the thousands of others who use telephones.
